Our Vision

At St Eanswythe's Church of England Primary School, our approach to behaviour is rooted in our Christian vision:

"Rooted in Folkestone's vibrant seaside community, we at St Eanswythe's radiate God's unconditional love by being inclusive, accepting and supportive. Inspired by Jesus' commandment, 'love one another as I have loved you', everyone is nurtured, enabling them to reach their full potential as caring, confident members of both our school family and global community.

We provide a rich, holistic education through a range of academic, physical, creative and spiritual experiences. Our shared aim is for every child to approach their future life with awe, wonder and enthusiasm; flourishing as the individuals that God intends them to be."

Our strapline is:

Learning holistically through God's unconditional love.

Our behaviour approach is therefore not separate from our vision. It is one of the ways in which we live our vision every day.

At the heart of our approach is Jesus' command:

"Love one another as I have loved you."
John 13:34

This means that every child and adult should experience St Eanswythe's as a place where they are known, valued, respected, supported and challenged to become the person God intends them to be. At St Eanswythe's, we recognise that behaviour is about more than compliance. It is about positive relationships, character, learning, responsibility and forgiveness. Above all, it is about learning to live in the light of God's unconditional love. At St Eanswythe's we commit to creating a school where:

Every child is known.
Every child is valued.
Every child is taught.
Every child is supported.
Every child is challenged to grow.
Every child has the opportunity to flourish.

Why We Call This “Living Well Together”

We have chosen the name Living Well Together because behaviour at St Eanswythe’s is about much more than following rules.

It is about learning how to:

- treat others with dignity;
- manage ourselves;
- make positive choices;
- take responsibility;
- repair relationships when things go wrong;
- show our Christian values through our actions;
- contribute positively to our school, local and global community.

Our aim is for children to develop the character, self-discipline and understanding to make positive choices because they understand the impact of their actions and want to live well with others.

Our Christian Values

Our six school values are central to our approach to behaviour.

They are:

Value	Meaning	Bible Story
Generosity	Giving freely of our time, resources, kindness and attention	The Poor Widow’s Gift
Compassion	Noticing when others need help and responding with kindness and care.	The Good Samaritan
Honesty	Being truthful, trustworthy and willing to take responsibility for our actions.	The Pharisee and the Tax Collector
Forgiveness	Recognising that people make mistakes, taking responsibility,	The Prodigal Son putting things right and offering opportunities for a fresh start.

Respect	Recognising the dignity and value of ourselves, others and the world around us.	Money in a Fish
Perseverance	Continuing to try, even when something is difficult or does not go as planned.	Jesus Heals a Paralysed Man

These values are not simply words displayed around school. They are the behaviours and character traits we explicitly teach, model, notice and celebrate.

Our overarching Bible story is Zacchaeus (Luke 19:1–10). Zacchaeus demonstrates the transformative power of being seen, accepted, challenged and changed. His encounter with Jesus reminds us that people can grow, make different choices and put things right.

Our Core Beliefs About Behaviour

At St Eanswythe's, we believe:

Every child is known. Every child is valued as a unique individual.

Every child can learn positive behaviour. Behaviour is taught, modelled, practised and reinforced, just as academic knowledge and skills are taught.

Every adult matters. The culture of our school is shaped by the relationships and interactions adults have with children and with one another.

High expectations and high support belong together. We will maintain clear expectations while recognising that some children need additional teaching, support or reasonable adjustments to meet those expectations.

Mistakes are opportunities for learning. Children will be held accountable for their choices, while being given opportunities to reflect, repair and make a better choice next time.

Relationships matter. We will seek to protect relationships while maintaining appropriate boundaries and expectations.

Consistency matters. Consistency does not mean that every child receives exactly the same response. It means that adults apply the same principles, expectations and values fairly and appropriately.

Our Restorative and Relational Approach

Our behaviour approach is restorative and relational.

This means that when behaviour is difficult, adults will seek to understand what has happened, while still maintaining clear expectations and accountability. This is supported by our pastoral Lead across the school to ensure support is given to both adults and children where necessary, and approaches are consistent.

A restorative approach does not mean that there are no consequences. It means that consequences are purposeful and proportionate and, where appropriate, help children:

- understand the impact of their actions;
- take responsibility;
- repair harm;
- restore relationships;
- learn what to do differently;
- return successfully to learning.

The adult response should therefore move towards:

Connect → Teach → Restore → Move Forward

rather than:

Confront → Punish → Escalate → Repeat

This approach supports the DfE expectation that schools should promote good behaviour through clear expectations, explicit teaching and consistent responses.

The St Eanswythe's Way

We want children to understand not only what we expect but why we expect it.

The St Eanswythe's way is built around four questions:

Is it safe?

Do my actions keep myself and others safe?

Is it respectful?

Am I treating myself, other people and our environment with dignity?

Is it responsible?

Am I taking responsibility for my choices and my learning?

Does it reflect our values?

Does my behaviour demonstrate generosity, compassion, honesty, forgiveness, respect or perseverance?

We expect children to demonstrate these principles:

- in classrooms;
- in corridors;
- in assemblies and worship;
- at lunchtime;
- on the playground;
- on school trips;
- when representing the school;
- and, where relevant, in the wider community and online.

Teaching Behaviour

Behaviour is part of our curriculum and it underpins the ethos of the school. Adults will model the behaviour they expect to see.

At St Eanswythe's we will teach children:

- how to enter and leave classrooms;
- how to listen;
- how to speak respectfully;
- how to disagree appropriately;
- how to work collaboratively;
- how to ask for help;
- how to manage disappointment;
- how to resolve friendship difficulties;
- how to move around school safely;
- how to behave during worship;
- how to care for the school environment;
- how to recognise and manage emotions;
- how to repair relationships.

Positive Behaviour Rewards

We want positive behaviour to be noticed, recognised and celebrated. The purpose of the system is to recognise children who demonstrate the behaviours and values we want to see throughout our school.

Dojos

Children can earn Dojos for positive behaviour. These will replace house points. Dojos are intended to provide frequent recognition of positive choices.

Dojos may recognise:

- kindness;
- effort;
- perseverance;
- helpfulness;
- respectful behaviour;
- positive learning behaviours;
- responsible choices;

- demonstrating our Christian values.
- Attendance

The Dojo Shop

Children can use their earned Dojos in our whole school Dojo Shop at the end of each term. The Dojo Shop provides opportunities for children to make choices about how they use their rewards. They may spend their Dojo points termly or roll them over termly in order to exchange for a high valued reward.

Values Badges and Medal

Our Values badges and Medals recognise children who demonstrate our six Christian values in meaningful ways.

Children can be nominated by the class teacher for demonstrating:

- Generosity
- Compassion
- Honesty
- Forgiveness
- Respect
- Perseverance

Each term the class teachers will be invited to nominate children as recognition for living out any of the above values. The teachers will submit nominations in writing with a explanatory statement.

A section will be made by the SLT and these children will be presented with a value badge in a special termly celebration Worship. The child's parents/careers will be invited to attend this presentation.

To recognise that our values extend beyond the school gates, we welcome knowledge of achievements and the living out of our school values from home or from the wider community. Teacher may refer to this in their statement when nominating a child. This reinforces the message that our values are not simply school behaviours. They are qualities we want children to carry into:

- their homes;
- friendships;
- clubs;
- community activities;

- places of worship;
- and the wider world.

When a child has achieved all six Values Badges, they will receive the St Eanswythe's Values Medal. This is a significant achievement recognising sustained demonstration of the school's Christian values.

Headteacher Awards

The Headteacher's award is for exceptional behaviour, achievement and character. The child will visit the headteacher or SLT for praise and receive a sticker for recognition of their efforts. These children will be listed weekly and further celebrated in a weekly Worship and newsletter. The Headteacher award celebrates the kind of character we hope children will carry with them beyond St Eanswythe's.

Responding to Behaviour

When behaviour does not meet the agreed expectations, adults will respond calmly, consistently and proportionately. The response given will depend on:

- the behaviour;
- the context;
- the child's age and stage of development;
- frequency;
- previous support;
- individual needs;
- SEND;
- safeguarding considerations;
- and the impact on others.

Where appropriate, the response will include:

- A calm reminder.
- Clarification of the expectation.
- Support to make a successful choice.
- A clear and proportionate consequence where needed.
- A restorative conversation.
- Repair of harm or relationships.
- A fresh start.

What Should Be Managed in Class?

Teachers and classroom staff are responsible for managing the majority of everyday behaviour.

This includes, for example:

- calling out;
- low-level disruption;
- minor disagreements;
- off-task behaviour;
- occasional refusal;
- minor friendship difficulties;
- failure to follow a routine;
- inappropriate language at a low level;
- unkind comments that can be addressed through teaching and restoration.

Staff should use the school's agreed approaches before referring routine behaviour to SLT. The aim is to build staff confidence and prevent unnecessary escalation.

The principle is, if it can reasonably be taught, supported and restored in the classroom, staff should own it in the classroom. This does not mean staff should struggle alone. Our pastoral lead is on hand to facilitate any restorative practice and support both adults and children. Staff should seek advice and support when needed.

When Should Behaviour Be Referred to SLT?

SLT involvement is appropriate when behaviour:

- presents a significant safety risk;
- involves serious physical aggression;
- involves serious threats;
- involves serious bullying;
- involves discriminatory or prejudicial behaviour;
- involves suspected child-on-child abuse;
- involves serious damage to property;
- involves behaviour that significantly disrupts the education or welfare of others;
- is persistent despite appropriate classroom intervention and support;
- requires a wider pastoral or safeguarding response;
- requires consideration of statutory procedures;
- or is beyond what the member of staff can reasonably and safely manage.

Where there is an immediate safeguarding or safety concern, staff should seek SLT support without delay.

Serious Behaviour

Some behaviour is serious enough to escalate directly to school leaders.

This may include:

- serious violence;
- serious threats;
- behaviour creating significant risk of harm;
- serious bullying;
- discriminatory abuse;
- serious sexualised behaviour;
- behaviour involving safeguarding concerns;
- serious damage;
- possession or use of prohibited items;
- repeated serious breaches of the behaviour policy.

The school may use sanctions and statutory procedures where necessary. Restorative practice remains important, but it does not replace the school's responsibility to protect pupils and staff or to follow statutory requirements.

Safeguarding

Behaviour concerns may sometimes indicate an underlying safeguarding issue. Adults must remain alert to changes in behaviour, emotional presentation, relationships or circumstances that may indicate that a child needs additional support or protection. Behaviour should never automatically be treated simply as deliberate misconduct where there may be:

- safeguarding concerns;
- trauma;
- unmet needs;
- communication difficulties;
- SEND;
- mental health or emotional difficulties;
- or other barriers to learning.

Safeguarding procedures must always take priority where a concern arises.

SEND and Individual Needs

We recognise that some children may experience additional barriers to meeting behavioural expectations. These may relate to:

- communication;
- cognition;
- sensory needs;
- emotional regulation;
- social understanding;
- neurodevelopmental differences;
- disability;
- or other identified needs.

The school will consider whether reasonable adjustments or additional support are appropriate.

This does not mean that expectations are removed. Instead, we seek to identify what support, teaching or adjustment will enable the child to meet expectations successfully. This will be completed by the SENCO and Pastoral lead. A bespoke behaviour plan will be created with the input from the class team and parents/carers to ensure the behaviour plan is successfully embedded.

Bullying and Discriminatory Behaviour

We do not accept bullying or discriminatory behaviour. Children are taught through our PSHE curriculum what bullying means and how to manage it and where to seek help if needed. Bullying is behaviour that is:

- repeated;
- intentional;
- harmful;
- and involves an imbalance of power.

We will respond promptly and appropriately. Discriminatory behaviour relating to protected characteristics will be taken seriously and addressed in accordance with our equality, safeguarding and behaviour procedures. Restorative approaches may form part of the response where appropriate, but they will not be used in a way that places responsibility on a child who has experienced harm.

Behaviour Outside School

Our school's expectations do apply when pupils are:

- representing the school;
- travelling to or from school;
- on school trips;
- taking part in school activities;
- wearing school uniform;
- or engaging in behaviour outside school that affects the school community.

The school will respond proportionately and in accordance with its legal powers and statutory guidance.

Searching, Confiscation and Prohibited Items

The school will follow current statutory guidance relating to searching, screening and confiscation. Where a search is required, it will be carried out lawfully, proportionately and with appropriate regard for the child's dignity and safety. The school's procedures will be kept aligned with current DfE guidance.

The school recognises that physical intervention should be used only when necessary, proportionate and lawful. The priority will always be prevention, de-escalation and keeping everyone safe. Where restrictive intervention is required, the school will follow current statutory guidance and its safeguarding procedures. Any incident will be recorded and reviewed appropriately.

Please refer to our ‘Use of reasonable Force and restrictive Interventions’ policy for further guidance.

Suspension and Permanent Exclusion

Suspension and permanent exclusion are serious measures and will only be used in accordance with statutory requirements and the school's behaviour policy. The Headteacher will follow the current Department for Education statutory guidance on suspension and permanent exclusion.

The current DfE guidance applies to academies and sets out legal responsibilities for headteachers, governing bodies and academy trusts. It was updated on 26 July 2026.The school will consider the individual circumstances of the pupil, including relevant SEND and safeguarding information, when making decisions. Suspension or permanent exclusion will not be used as a routine response to behaviour that can appropriately be addressed through teaching, support and restorative approaches.

Working With Parents and Carers

We believe that parents and carers are important partners in helping children develop positive behaviour and character.

We will:

- communicate expectations clearly;
- celebrate positive behaviour;
- contact parents when additional support is required;
- involve parents in significant behaviour concerns;
- seek to understand relevant circumstances;
- work collaboratively on support strategies;
- communicate honestly and respectfully.

We ask parents and carers to:

- support the school's expectations;
- talk positively about school;
- encourage children to take responsibility for their choices;
- reinforce the school's Christian values;
- communicate concerns respectfully;
- work with school staff to support their child's development.

Our shared aim is not simply to prevent poor behaviour. It is to help children become caring, confident and responsible members of their school, family and wider community.

The Role of Adults, Children and Governors

All stakeholders contribute to the behaviour culture of St Eanswythe's.

Adults are expected to:	Children are expected to:	The governing body is responsible for ensuring that the school has an effective behaviour policy and that its implementation is monitored. Governors will consider:
• model our Christian values;	• be ready to learn	• behaviour data and trends
• build positive relationships;	• listen to adults and one another	• attendance and exclusions
• use calm and respectful language;	• respecting others	• pupil voice
• explicitly teach expectations;	• care for people and property	• parent feedback
• recognise positive behaviour;	• make safe choices	• staff confidence
• maintain high expectations;	• follow agreed routines	• consistency of implementation
• respond consistently;	• demonstrate our six values	• safeguarding
• protect children's dignity;	• take responsibility when things go wrong	• equality
• use restorative approaches;	• participate in repairing relationships	• SEND
• seek support appropriately;	• ask for help when they need it	• review of policy
• reflect on their own practice.	• give others the opportunity to learn and flourish	• the extent to which behaviour practice reflects the school's Christian vision

Monitoring and Evaluation

The effectiveness of Living Well Together will not be judged solely by the number of behaviour incidents.

We will also consider:

- Are children safe?
- Do children feel that they belong?
- Do children understand our values?
- Are positive behaviours being recognised?
- Are staff confident?
- Are staff responding consistently?
- Are children increasingly able to regulate and repair?
- Are parents confident in the school's approach?
- Are referrals to SLT appropriate?
- Are serious incidents responded to effectively?
- Is our Christian vision visible in behaviour practice?

We will use:

- behaviour information
- pupil voice
- staff voice
- parent voice
- SLT monitoring
- safeguarding information
- attendance and exclusion information
- governor monitoring

We will continue to learn, reflect and improve together so that our behaviour practice reflects our bible verse words at the heart of our Christian vision:

“Love one another as I have loved you.”

John 13:34
